111 SOUTH MICHIGAN STREET

WILL INSPECT NEWTON ARBOR

Purdue Man to Make an Investigation of Results Obtained by Local Grape Grower.

M. W. Richards of Purdue university will arrive in South Bend next week to investigate the results of the summer experiments made at the George Newton grape arbor, south of Springbrook park.

According to John S. Bordner, county agent, the results of the spraying and scientific management will prove unusually advantageous.
The yield from the arbor on the Newton place exceeds any of its former records this year, due to the fact that the spraying has been done with care and pruning has been managed scientifically.

The yield in St. Joseph county was unusually small this year, supposed to be caused by the extreme dry weather conditions. The theory, however, has been proved by the experiments on the Newton farm, to be only one of the causes for the small county yield.

Worms have been destroying the plants and vines, checking growth, branching and growth, while the diseases affecting grape arbors have all had an additional chance to get into the plants because of the weather.

The precautions furnished by spraying demonstrates that they can be prevented irrespective of weather conditions. Richards will use the tests made on the Newton farm as examples in grape culture over the state.

John S. Bordner has had 26 large educational charts printed and they will be posted in conspicuous places at the produce display in the court house during fair week. Each chart will contain a short and different story and a lesson in farm affairs written by Bordner.

The display arranged by Bordner at the court house will be especially educational as all varieties of produce will be on exhibit. Every type of corn is being gathered by the farm bureau, which is co-operating with Bordner in the work. Requests have been made by Bordner that all farmers who have any special variety or type of seed corn bring in samples of it with a sample of the stalk.

QUICKLY STOPS THE WORST BACKACHE

Croxone Makes Kidney Troubles, Bladder Disorders, Rheumatic Pains Vanish.

If you suffer with backache or kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders, or are tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-rending pains, you will be surprised how quickly and surely Croxon will relieve all such troubles.
It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, neutralizes, dissolves and makes the kidneys spit out and filter away the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong, healthy and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are or what you have used, it is practically impossible to take Croxon without results. It starts to work the minute you take it and is guaranteed to relieve you the first time you use it, or cost you nothing.

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder trouble, or rheumatism, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Crox-one really will relieve your misery and do it quickly. An original package costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorized to return the purchase if it fails in a single case. Advertisment.

AT THE THEATERS

"THE LADY KILLER."
A first-class comedy, depicting the fashion of certain women for monis-ting celebrities. Lamar Johnstone appears as Adolph, the great pianist.
He prefers frankfurters and sauerkraut, but is so constantly pursued by society women that he gets no peace and comfort. In the end he escapes leaving one admirer in a supposed fainting fit. Quite pleasing. At the Surprise theater today with an "American" drama, "While There's Life."

DAILEY IS PLEASING.

Joseph Dailey is proving more and more to be one of the best fun makers of the Grayscott players. His performance of Old Lewellyn, the president of the Inter-State railroad, in this week's play, "The Blue Mouse," is a joy to behold. Every line he says is a signal for a big laugh, and the many startling situations in which he finds himself, together with the "Blue Mouse" brings forth howls of delight.
Mr. Dailey and Miss Scott in the two principal parts are ably seconded by by Mr. Ford and every member of the company, and everybody who takes the opportunity presented this week of seeing this funniest of funny plays will find himself amply repaid with that best of all tonics, laughter.

"OFFICER 666."

In "Officer 666," which will be seen at the Oliver Saturday matinee and night, the author is said to have handled his plot and characters with all the ingenuity and brilliant snap of the modern French and German school, he has apparently shattered all the traditions of the stage, so individual and novel are his swiftly evolved comedy situations, complicated, tangled and finally surprisingly straightened out. Unlike most comedies the utmost suspense as to the outcome keeps pace with its continual provocative laughter until the final scene. Just when you think a glimmering of the solution is discernable the next situation sweeps that idea away in a gale of laughter and renewed wonderment as to how the play is really going to end. In this masterly handling of the story of a sparkling, wholesome farce, "Officer 666" is said to stand in a class by itself.

"THE COMMON LAW."

No book of fiction within late memory has caused more sensation than has Robert W. Chambers' "The Common Law". Those who have read "The Common Law", and there are thousands upon thousands who have, have doubtless experienced a sense of curiosity to behold the flesh and blood characters of Louis Neville and his sweetheart model, Valerie West. The reasoning powers of the young woman in the case, whose mind filled with false ideas regarding the marriage state, and exalted character of the artist, whose noble manhood finally wins the girl over to his way of thinking, have been discussed in innumerable households and in all probability no other book characters have ever made a stronger appeal to general humanity than have the creations of the author of "The Common Law".
